

Week10

Monday, October 30, 2023

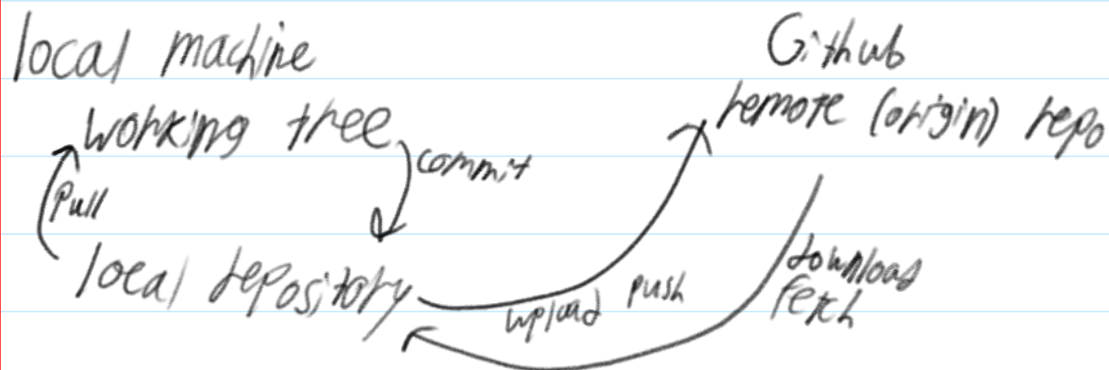

11:57 AM

Not much notes, mostly coding.

Github: A company that holds master repositories of many different users.

Your local machine has a copy of the code, and the main branch is stored on the cloud.

So you can make changes to the working tree, which can change your own local repository. These changes to the local repository can be pushed to the main branch.

Observer Pattern:

1-Many Relationship

